Nursing at UBGA: A pillar of our medical conferences

At Un Buen Grupo de Amigos (UBGA), we recognize with admiration and gratitude the nursing professionals whose vocation, dedication, and humanity are essential to bringing health to the communities that need it most. Their work is reflected not only in clinical care, but in every gesture of care, every reassuring word, and every action that improves lives.

During our Free Medical Care Days, your participation is essential. Nurses prepare, care for, guide, and accompany patients with commitment and empathy, serving as a pillar in the mission to provide dignified, friendly, and quality medical services in highly marginalized areas.

Today, on International Nurses Day, we celebrate their daily efforts and reaffirm our respect for those who make their profession a way to transform realities. Thank you for caring with science and heart!
